Policy Administration

Agents / Inhouse / Responsive Web / Custom App

If your distribution is via outside agents, we can expose a broker portal such that only their policies are available and allow only endorsements that you desire each to be able to perform. Otherwise convenient in-house web based applications are provided, as well as a responsive external customer self-service portal. We also provide a customized app for your customers to manage their policy to the extent that is desired according to your corporate philosophy.

Multi-Product

Automobile (both standard and non-standard), home/rental/condo and life insurance are all supported within our framework.

Policy Edition Difference Display

We can display a clear list of what aspects of a policy was altered between one policy version and any other edition of the policy.

Out of Sequence Endorsements

Instead of having to roll back endorsements when mistakes are made, we can rate and insert out of sequence changes between other endorsements according to your specific rules and desired limitations.

Renewals and all policy versions in one place

Your entire history with each customer, along with all documents and accounting transactions for each customer event are displayed in a simple and clear list in one central location.

About AIT

Origin

AIT was created to provide all of the internal software needs for a startup automobile insurance operation that has grown from inception to over $200M in annual written premium using our sales, policy administration, premium finance, kiosk automation, and claims handling applications. This foundation regarding the use of our applications to gain competitive advantage for a successful startup should provide comfort for any new customers considering our products.

Approach

From the very beginning we designed our applications to be both efficient and generic so that they would be perfect not only for our early adopting insurer, but also be able to be easily configured for new clients in their own specific environments.

Principals

The executive and technical management of AIT all have 20+ years in building efficient and successful insurance systems from scratch that have demonstrated industry leading success and performance.
